Purim Shabbat

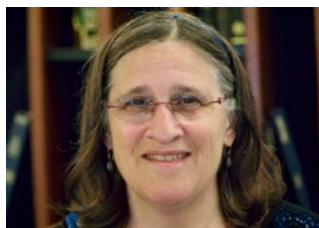

Friday, March 10, 2017 - 6:00 PM

Join us for Shabbat as we combine our Shabbat prayers with the telling of the story of Purim through the eyes of the Fiddler using melodies from "Fiddler on the Roof." Parts are still available – sign your name on the temple office door or contact Rabbi Medwin – rabbimedwin@me.com. No need to memorize. You can just read from the script.

Roles taken: Fiddler, Mordechai, Esther

Available roles: King, Haman, Narrator, Zeresh (Haman's wife), Vashti

From the Rabbi...

Haman and the Tzar

As a people, we have had various times in our history when some person or group was out to get us. On Purim we celebrate the Jews overcoming the evil Haman's decree to destroy our people. In Russia in the late 1800's it was the Tzar. Most American Jews can trace their grandparents or great grandparents back to that time period. Just as Tevye's family in the Fiddler on the Roof story needed to leave Russia due to anti-Semitism, so did many of our ancestors. This makes it a more personal story. We were not able to overcome the Tzar, but we were able to find new homes and flourish in our new country of America. Our ancestors from Eastern Europe and Russia would be kvelling over what we have been able to achieve. This year we will combine the themes of both parts of our history by using the music and messages from "Fiddler on the Roof" to tell the Purim story. Join us for a fun filled night of music, story telling, and community. Come dressed as your favorite Fiddler on the Roof character. Friday, March 10th at 6:00 PM. Parts in our Purim story are still available. Contact

Rabbi Medwin, rabbimedwin@me.com, if you are interested in having a role.

Purim: History

The story of Purim is found in the Book of Esther, one of the books in the Ketuvim (Writings) section of the Bible. It is set in the land of Persia (current day Iran) at the time when Achashverosh was king. King Achashverosh held a banquet in the capital city of Shushan and ordered his queen, Vashti, to come and dance before his guests. She refused to appear and lost her royal position.

Acting on advice from his counselors, Achashverosh held a pageant to choose a new queen. Mordechai, a Jewish man living in Shushan, encouraged his cousin, Esther, to enter the competition. Esther won but, following the advice of her cousin, did not reveal her Jewish origin to the king.

Mordechai often sat near the gate of the king's palace. One day he overheard two men, Bigthan and Teresh, plotting to kill the king. Mordechai reported what he had heard to Esther. She then reported the information to the king. The matter was investigated and found to be true, and Bigthan and Teresh came to an unfortunate end. Mordechai's deed was recorded in the king's diary.

Meanwhile, the king's evil adviser, Haman, paraded through the streets, demanding that all bow down to him. Because Jews do not bow to anyone but God, Mordechai refused to bow down to Haman. Upon learning that Mordechai was Jewish, Haman decided to kill all the Jews in the Persian empire. He plotted to kill them—convincing King Achashverosh to go along with the plan—and cast purim ("lots," plural of pur), a kind of lottery, to determine the day on which he would carry out his evil deed: the 13th of Adar.

However, Mordechai alerted Esther to Haman's evil plot, and Esther, in turn, revealed her Jewish identity to the King, convincing him to save the Jews and foiling Haman's plot. Haman was hanged, Mordechai received his estates and the position of royal vizier, and the Jews of Persia celebrated their narrow escape on the 14th of Adar, the day after they were supposed to be annihilated.

Thus, the fate Haman had planned for the Jews became his own. The holiday of Purim celebrates the bravery of Esther and Mordechai and the deliverance of the Jewish people from the cruelty of oppression.

Although Purim is observed in most places on the 14th of Adar, in Jerusalem, it is celebrated on the 15th. M'gillat Esther explains, “on the thirteenth day of the twelfth month—that is the month of Adar—when the king's command and decree were to be executed, the very day on which the enemies of the Jews intended to have rule over them, the opposite happened, and the Jews prevailed over their adversaries.” The Jews fought and won on the 13th of Adar and celebrated the following day. However, M'gillat Esther continues by explaining that the Jews did not defeat their enemies until the 14th of Adar in the walled city of Shushan. Therefore, cities that were enclosed during the time of Joshua do not celebrate until the 15th of Adar, which has been appropriately named Shushan Purim. Because of the significance of Jerusalem, Purim is celebrated on Shushan Purim.

Simple ways that you can give matanot l'evyonim (gifts to the poor) on Purim:

- Donate food or money to a local food pantry.
- Volunteer at a soup kitchen, cooking or serving a meal.
- Make sandwiches to distribute to the homeless.
- Bake and sell hamantaschen and donate the proceeds to an anti-hunger or social service agency.
- Conduct a canned-food drive for a local food bank.
