Behind the Scenes

Since we've been having services on Zoom, we haven't gotten together in a while. However, I assure you that things are happening behind the scenes.

Bringing our Building up to Standard

Evolution Home Pro finished the roof in record time. They tore out the rest of the old roofing and put in a new roof. They also replaced the gutters on the Route 42 side of the building. Hopefully we won't have any roof leaks for a few years.

The big deal is the elevator. Though we have won a grant, we still don't have a contract, so we can't get reimbursed for expenses. An angel has stepped forward to lend us some money, because New York State will not pay in advance – they want the project to be completed first. With this generous loan in hand, our contractor, Accessibility Solutions, has removed the old elevator. In the meantime, we will hire a carpenter to prepare the hole in the wall to receive the new wheelchair lift.

While this was going on, American Electric revamped our antiquated electrical feed. It seems that the underground cable had deteriorated and was in danger of rotting through. The repair did not go smoothly. When they dug to put in the new cable, the workmen struck wiring that was supposed to heat the roof. Turns out it hadn't been working for at least a year. They tore out the wiring – we'll do without it. Then they left without restoring the electricity. The temple was without electricity for a day and a half, but they got it working before the pipes froze. The electricity is working fine now.

Fundraising

Paula Schroeder is in distress because the bus company, Rolling V, has been acquired by Beacon Mobility, and the new owners have significantly raised the cost of bus trips. As a result, Paula is forced to raise the price of bus trips into New York City for Temple members from $40 to $55 per person, and we will be doing trips locally this year.

Preparing for High Holidays

The Ritual Committee is looking into service leaders for High Holiday services. Rabbis are scarce. We will “audition” possible candidates by asking them to lead a regular Friday service. Please join us for the first service of the month in February and March to listen to possible candidates. Also, be on the lookout for possible service leaders and let a Board member know if you come across one.

Stephanie Phillips, PhD
President of the Board of Trustees

YIDDISH CIRCLE

now ONLY at

CRAWFORD LIBRARY

Robert D. Norris Community Room

Every Wednesday 10:30–12:00

We had a wonderful start to 2024, gathering online in celebration and remembrance. MLK, Tu BiShvat, and International Holocaust Day all in one month is a well rounded reminder of our freedom, our natural resources, connection, strong will and importance of thriving with kindness.

As the cold winter bears down for February and March, we know the weight of winter can be overwhelming. We remind ourselves that we are actually already gaining a bit more daylight each day. The balance between dark and light has already been shifting for a few weeks.

So, we keep this in mind, grab hold of our January inspiration, maybe an extra sweater, and push forward. We look forward to our online services together.

Although Valentine's isn't a Jewish Holiday, as the old comedy album we grew up with was titled, "When You're in Love the Whole World is Jewish." So, let's continue to offer love and kindness wherever we go.

We are already looking forward to seeing you at Shabbat Service on February 9, where we will celebrate with the kavanah of love.

Stay warm, inside and out.

Love and Shalom, Ira and Julia
