ADAR II / NISAN 5784

PASSOVER 2024, April 22 - 29

Pesach is the oldest and most transformative story of hope ever told. It tells of how an otherwise undistinguished group of slaves found their way to freedom from the greatest and longest-lived empire of their time, indeed of any time. It tells the revolutionary story of how the supreme Power intervened in history to liberate the supremely powerless. It is a story of the defeat of probability by the force of possibility. Three thousand three hundred years ago, a group of slaves were liberated and began what Nelson Mandela calls the long walk to freedom. And ever since, at this time of the year, we've re-lived their story on what we call Pesach, Passover, the Jewish festival of the exodus.

To me it raises a fascinating question. Imagine we could travel back in time and meet the great Pharaoh himself, Ramses II. I know what I'd say. Ramses, there's good news and bad news. The good news is that one people alive now will still be alive in thousands of years' time. The bad news is: it won't be yours. It will be that group of slaves out there, building your great temples, the people you call the habiru or Hebrews, the children of Israel.

Nothing could sound more absurd. The Egypt of the Pharaohs was the greatest empire of the ancient world; and the Hebrews were nothing - slave labor, powerless, not even yet a nation. Yet it was they, not the Pharaohs, who survived, and still do to this day. How did it happen? The answer, I believe, is this.

Ancient Egypt and ancient Israel were two peoples who asked the most fateful question of all. How, in this all too brief span of years, do we create something that will endure? How do we acquire a share in immortality? The Egyptians gave one answer. Build great monuments of stone - temples, pyramids - that will outlast the winds and sands of time. And they did. What they built still stands. But only the buildings, not the civilization that once gave them life. The Israelites gave a different answer. You don't need to create monuments. All you need to do is tell the story, generation after generation. You need to engrave your values on the hearts of your children, and they on theirs, so that you live on in them, and so on to the end of time. You need to build a civilization around the home, the school, and education as a conversation between the generations. You need to put children first. That is what Jews did for thousands of years; and it's why we're here today.

The Pesach story, more than any other, remains the inexhaustible source of inspiration to all those who long for freedom. Freedom is a moral achievement, and without a constant effort of education it atrophies and must be fought for again. Nowhere more than on Pesach, though, do we see how the story of one people can become the inspiration of many.

~ The Late Rabbi Lord Jonathan Sacks zt"l

From the President.....

Ups and Downs

Our Building Committee has swung into action. We now have a beautiful new elevator, or “wheelchair lift,” in official terminology. The lift has room for two standing people plus a sitting person in a wheelchair.

We thank Accessibility Solutions for their timely work. They had warned us that the price for the lift itself was going to go up in January, and we needed to order it quickly, which we did. Once it was delivered, the team went right to work and completed the job within a month.

Our problem was providing access to the building on the days when the installers wanted to be here. Thanks to our volunteers, Howard Perlman, Ruth Turk, Lois Weinstein, Dave Ellman, me, and especially Pat Halprin, we were able to juggle our schedules to make this happen, despite a truck breakdown in the early days of the installation that lost us a couple of days.

What’s next on the security agenda? The grants from New York State Division of Criminal Justice Services have provided us with funds to upgrade our alarm system, including installation of video cameras, and we are moving forward with that. We will also be replacing some decrepit and vulnerable wooden doors with new metal doors. Watch for these security improvements coming soon!

Stephanie Phillips, PhD
President of the Board of Trustees

Ira & Julia Levin

We are delighted to be together for the month of Nissan, as we welcome in spring and our Passover celebration. In recalling our liberation from the narrow place of Mitzrayim, the Egypt of old, in which a tyrant seemed to hold the power to crush our will and spirit, we gather in our beautiful sacred space of the temple and online to remember love and the resilient nature we each have been given.

Even in uncertain times, we know that darkness will not last. Using the Torah as our assurance and our model, we create a space for God to dwell in us and among us. We put our focus on our roots and enter into receptivity.

After doing the groundwork for peace, acting in faith, we can allow ourselves to wait for the grace and power of God to direct, guide, and prompt us as we move into Nissan. We look forward to singing and praying with you and sharing some virtual and real matza and cream cheese.

Love and Shalom, Ira and Julia

PRIMETIMERS - Monday, June 10 at 1:00 PM

We are looking forward to our wonderful meetings, day trips, and luncheons for the coming season. Get your calendars out so you can plan to attend our events. Our first meeting is on Monday, June 10, at 1:00 PM at Temple Shalom. Mimi Lewinter Werner will give a power point presentation describing her photographer parents' (Clara and Herman Lewinter) illicit photographs within the Janowska Concentration Camp during the Holocaust.

On June 19, we will have a bus to New York City for a day on your own. We need to have at least 50 people to make this a go. The busses are very expensive but our $55 round trip with tip is still cheaper than Shortline or driving on your own with parking. So far I have about 20 reservations. Please call me at 561-504-7192 if you want to go. We also have a bus on August 14 to New York City.

On Thursday, July 18, we will have a bus to the Wind Creek Casino in Bethlehem, PA. There are discount stores and a variety of eating places. It will be $55/pp and you will get back $30 for free play. It's a beautiful bus ride and we hope you will join us.

Our annual card party will be on Monday, July 29, from 11:30 to 4:00 PM.. Details will follow. Meeting dates are June 10, July 8, August 12, and Sept 9. We hope to have a show at Shadowland in August.

Please support our fundraising endeavors.

Shalom,

Paula
